VOTE 42-14 TO LIMIT ALLOT-
MENTS FOR YEAR

Putnam County wheat farmers Friday accepted by a 3 to 1 majority the government acreage allotment program. The vote in this county was 42-14. Two hundred seventy-seven Putnam farmers were eligible to vote.

Farmers throughout the nation also put their stamp of approval on the referendum which, to go into effect, required a two-thirds majority of those voting.

Officials at the A. S. C. office noted that last year the program failed to carry in this county with the vote running 43-29 and that opposition to the program fell more than half in 1956. However, the vote in the nation prevailed and allotments went into effect.

SANTA FE CHIEF IS DERAILED IN MISSOURI TODAY

A SCORE ARE HURT WHEN
FAST TRAIN LEAVES
THE RAILS

CARROLLTON, Mo. (UP)—All 13 cars of the Santa Fe railroad's crack San Francisco Chief left the tracks Sunday night, injuring 26 of the 122 passengers aboard.

There were no fatalities. Many of the passengers were treated at hospitals and released to continue on their journey. Others were detained.

The Missouri Highway Patrol reported 20 of the 26 were litter cases.

Many of the 122 passengers and 27 crew members probably owe their lives to the fact the train was slowing down. The Chief is the Santa Fe's second newest passenger train and is capable of speeds up to 80 miles an hour.

Santa Fe officials in Chicago said the derailment apparently was caused by a V-shaped piece of metal which lodged in a switch after falling from a passing freight.

The Chief was en route from Chicago to San Francisco when it derailed at 10:30 p. m. while slowing down for a flag stop in Carrollton, Landreth said.

Eden Promises To Stand By Allies

LONDON, (UP)—Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden reassured Britain's Western defense partners today he plans no "sudden or abrupt" troop cuts "which would throw the whole gear of our Western unity into confusion."

But Eden warned that the H-bomb, which he said Britain will possess "before long," must "compel some military rethinking on both sides of the Iron Curtain."

He indicated a slow approach to that rethinking in a House of Commons speech just four hours after West Germany's ambassador to London delivered an official warning against cutting Western forces on the continent. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer pulled his big three ambassadors home to Bonn last week for emergency talks on the situation. There have been reports that Britain and the United States were contemplating major cutbacks in their forces in West Germany.

London Ambassador Hans von Herwarth relayed Adenauer's concern to Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd as soon as he returned from Bonn this morning. Eden gave the answer shortly afterwards.

Operations Alert Are Being Checked

The top command of "Operation Alert" began coping today with mock Civil Defense crises that could not be ironed out locally but required high-level action and decisions.

Reports on the crises flowed into the 37 secret relocation sites where government agencies are functioning during the six-day

Civil Defense exercises that began last Friday.

For the first 36 hours after my nuclear nuclear bombs and guided missiles flattened vast areas of the United States, problems created by the emergency were tackled by "city officials" and local Civil Defense directors. The problems they could not cope with were passed up to state officials Sunday, and today those still unsolved reached the top.

The "top" in most instances theoretically would mean the officials who make up the President's Cabinet. But Cabinet officials did not turn out in full strength for Civil Defense exercise, and of the five who did move to their scattered emergency headquarters 50 to 350 miles from Washington, only one remained today.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. and Marion E. Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare, returned to Washington after one day at their emergency headquarters.

With President Eisenhower in Panama for a conference and with all but one Cabinet member back in Washington, the government's practice emergency operation was left in the hands of assorted under-secretaries, assistant secretaries and other second echelon officials.

The Cabinet member still on hand was Interior Secretary

Fred A. Seaton.

Although the Civil Defense test will continue until late Wednesday, the news center, through which reports on the government's operations for the last three days have passed, will close down this afternoon.

The impact of press and radio reports was only about half that for which accommodations had been provided in a converted mansion more than 100 miles from Washington.

MINISTER AND WIFE BATTLE IN COURT

Attorney G. S. Miller and Rev. T. G. Northcott. Mrs. Phyllis Northcott and Attorney W. A. Smith.

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY is marking the divorce battle between a prominent Staten Island, N. Y., minister and his attractive, 34-year-old wife, in a Miami, Fla., court. Among the charges and counter-charges: Rev. Thomas Graham Northcott, a Presbyterian minister, said his wife had admitted "indiscretions" with another minister. Mrs. Phyllis Northcott denied this, and accused her husband of being involved in an "open scandal" with a wealthy widow.

Mr. Champion's Lessons Start Working Against Him

Mr. Champion doesn't realize he is wasting his time when he criticizes Mr. Muzzy and gives him "lessons" after every hand. Lately, Mr. Champion has given out with these free instructions on the subject of finessing.

The bidding:

All Pass

In today's deal, as usual, Mr. Muzzy misinterpreted what had been said and the freak result proved again that you don't get paid for teaching your partner during the game. You are the only who pays.

FOUR SPADES
Overbidding his hand slightly, Mr. Muzzy jumped into a four-spade contract and Mr. Champion took the first two tricks with the king and queen of diamonds. He then shifted to a trump and Mr. Muzzy was in. He saw that he had a sure loser in clubs and so could not afford to lose a trick in hearts.

After winning another trump trick and ruffing his last diamond, Mr. Muzzy led a club to his ace. Here he paused and started thinking trying to remember what Mr. Champion had said about finessing so that he could apply it to his handling of the heart suit.

His reasoning went like this. He himself would normally lead the nine of hearts to dummy's ace, return a heart and finesse the jack. But (he figured) if that was the way he would do it, it must be wrong because Mr. Champion had consistently disapproved of everything he did.

JACK LEAD

He therefore decided to lead the jack. Mr. Champion had no better play than to cover the queen and dummy's ace won.

Now with the 10 and four other hearts still outstanding, Mr. Muzzy had another finesse to take. This didn't seem to displease him as he loves to finesse. He pulled a small heart from the board and hooked the nine. When this won he had his game made.

Mr. Dale glanced slyly at Mr. Champion. "On this hand, your pupil made a really sensational decision," he remarked. "I'm beginning to like those lessons you're giving him."

Parlor Pinks Unwanted As Communism Toughens

By Margaret Latrobe
Maybe it is doing them too much honor, but I have never thought of our intellectual parlor pinks as Communists in the same sense that the Kremlin crowd are Communists.

This is to emphasize "parlor," not pink. Those who talk a good line of wealth sharing, where Nize Poppa pays all the bills, where a few dullards do the chores, make the money and then send a bundle home to be split amongst those too clever to work—these folk aren't Communists at all. They are merely babies who want to stay babies. The real Communist would cheerfully send them packing, come the revolution.

The pinko imagined, to his delight, that a school of thought exists for the benefit of the one-track mind. "You earn it and I'll spend it." A fair enough arrangement, it seems to him. Share and share alike, he reasons. You take responsibilities, I'll take freedom. You keep busy and I'll think up new jobs for you. That philosophy was childishly thought to be Communism some years ago. But now that the Party has emerged as a free-for-all barroom brawl the parlor pink essay has turned green with fear. He didn't want a fight—just some unearned dividends.

Communism has decided to modernize the saloon. A new facade of pink plastic with cerise polka-dots sets it prettily above the rest of the block of drab and frumpy neighbors. Winking lights inside the vodka glass beckon thirsty travelers.

"Free drinks," says the sign. "Tables for ladies—?" What ladies? Let 'em stand at the bar with their comrades. Equality you wanted, equality you got.

"Have another toast? Let us drink to present company and forget our dear departed Little Joe. We changed the pictures on the wall, you know... The decorations are what capitalists call a 'montage'—meaning a composite of the lot of us. Very handy. Not so noticeable when another dear departs.

"Have another drink? Oh, no charge—but leave via the back room, please. We insist you try our hors d'oeuvres. The capitalists call it red herring but we call it espionage..."

Our parlor pinks want none of the rough and tumble of real Communism. They talk baby talk. They want their mammas. They haven't grown up enough to be free men, nor yet enough to be prisoners.

Poor pinkies. Nobody wants them—not even Communism.

SEARCHING FOR BODIES OF AMBUSH VICTIMS

RANGOON, Burma (UP)—Search crews recovered 22 bodies from the wreckage of a train ambushed by Karen rebels Friday on the main Rangoon-Prome line, officials reported Sunday.

Twenty-four other persons were hospitalized with injuries sustained in the blowing up of the train or in the armed attack that followed.

The train carrying some 1,000 passengers was en route to Prome when it hit three mines near a bridge some 50 miles north of Rangoon.

Karen rebels surged out of the forests on both sides of the rail line and poured bullets into the train. Several coaches were put to the torch.

Guards on an armored train, traveling ahead of the passenger train, heard the explosions and turned back. They engaged the rebels who fled, taking an estimated 20 passengers with them as hostages.

HOUSE APPROVES THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL TODAY

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House approved the administration's civil rights bill today over southern opposition. But the measure was almost certain to die in the Senate.

A powerful coalition of Republicans and northern Democrats drove the bill to final passage. A "baby filibuster" staged by the out-numbered Dixie bloc delayed passage for a week.

Barring a major upset, the bill will die in the Senate where it is not expected to get past the Senate Judiciary Committee. The rush toward weekend adjournment and threat of a southern filibuster will almost certainly prevent Senate action.

The final vote came after the House beat down a southern veto to kill the bill by sending it back to the Judiciary Committee. The roll call vote was 275-131 against this move to "recommit" the bill.

The party purge coincided with a secret visit to the Hungarian capital by Mikoyan. His presence in Budapest during the last week was announced only after his departure.

Budapest Radio said that Mikoyan had been there for "several days." Western observers here said he may have for-Mikoyan arrived in Yugoslavia on an unexpected "private visit" Saturday night and conferred with Marshal Tito, according to reports from Tito's summer residence of Brioni.

Budapest Radio said the Communist Party Central Committee last week fired Farkas from his committee post and the party and that he also would be relieved of his post as general of the army.

The broadcast said that the committee accused Farkas of misusing his authority, damaging socialist laws and persecuting innocent party members.

CANADIAN CONQUERS LAKE ONTARIO

TORONTO (UP)—Johnny Jaromy, a husky 36-year-old Toronto steamfitter, today became the first man to swim across Lake Ontario.

Chicago Police Hunt Sex Maniac

CHICAGO (UP)—Police today sought a husky 6-footer, believed to be a sex maniac, who raped and then beat a woman to death while an observer looked on through binoculars from a plush lakefront apartment 1½ miles away.

The victim was identified as Margaret Gallagher, 50, part-owner of a North Side beauty shop. Her brother, Patrick J. Gallagher, made the identification.

Authorities said that if the witness who had watched her murder had called them immediately, instead of hurrying from his 15th floor apartment to the street and there seeking a policeman, they might have caught the assailant.

As it was, they found only the body of the victim, her head so brutally bashed in that police could only guess at her appearance.

Although the woman was slain near a crowded beach, police admitted seeing her.

Authorities were trying to verify one report that a man, presumed to be a friend, had sat with her in the sunny park, screened by bushes from the beach, earlier in the day. A man and woman were observed sitting in approximately the same location as the murder site, and the man was said to have taken his chair and walked away, leaving the woman sun-bathing.

of six recruits, said the drill instructor was just like a father to him.
"We all liked him, sir," said Pvt. Louis C. Leake, 17, a Newark N. J., Negro.
Sitting forward in the witness chair, nervously holding a loud speaker microphone in his right hand, Leake told how he had discussed his problems with McKeon—much as he would have with a father.
"Did he tell you he had confidence in you—that you were going to make a good Marine—that you would make it?" softly asked defense attorney Emile Zola Berman.

"Yes, sir," Leake replied.
"Was he a good drill instructor—good to you?"
"Yes, sir."
The six recruits drowned last April 8 when McKeon, 31, a junior drill instructor at this U. S. Marine recruit training depot, marched 74 men into the salt creek to "teach them discipline. He is being tried before a general court-martial on charges of manslaughter, oppression of troops, and drinking in violation of regulations.
